Surely, homicide has not been classified as a "popular sport" instead of a crime?

Did You Buy One?

"When the war's costing Uncle Sam $1,000,000,000 a month, what's the good of my little old $50 bond? Fizz, bang—it's all gone. What's the use? I might as well buy myself a cheese sandwich and give the waiter the change."

But you are wrong, Mr. Conscientious-Objector-to-being-separated-from-your-Coin when you say that, Listen!

Down comes a German shell crash, upon an American trench. A dozen of the boys fall, bleeding, into the mud. The stretcher bearers rush forward. "Thank heaven," says the lieutenant, "for the negro barber shop porter back in Chicago who bought that $50 bond Tetanus killed thousands of poor fellows back in 1915, but we don't have to worry. His little bond will keep 159 of us safe from lock-jaw."

At the first aid dressing station the nurses were busy. "That's the 160th first aid packet I've applied this morning," said one. "How many lives will they save? It's wonderful to think they all came from one $50 Liberty bond. I understand a little waitress back in Illinois paid for it."

At the field hospital the surgeons had their hands full. "Got enough ether?" asked the major. "Sure," replied the captain. "A Polish laborer back on the west side in old Chicago did that for us with his $50 bond. Means enough anesthetic to make 400 operations painless. And as for bandages, Mary O'Grady's $50 has supplied enough to tie up 555 wounded hands."

Out in No Man's land the soldiers, lying in the hot sun, began to drink the dirty water in the shell holes. "We should worry," said the corporal. "That $50 bond purchased by little lame George Brown, who can't be a soldier himself, will keep 66 of us big huskies safe from typhoid here on the firing line. And as for small pox, one baby bond means immunity for 1,000 soldiers."

But, Mr. Conscientious-Objec-

tor-to-being-Separated-from-your-Coin, if you really want to help win the war, buy more than one $50 bond. Their power grows faster than their denominations.—Ex.

REAL WAR RELICS
WILL BE SHOWN HERE

Special Train Will Arrive Here At 3:50, April 28, And Depart At 5:50.

The great World War is to be brought closely home to the citizens of this community in a most forceful manner. A special train, laden with war relics direct from the battle front in France and from the devastated land of Belgium, will be brought to the homes of the people of this community on a special train which is scheduled to arrive here at 3:50 o'clock, Sunday, April 28th. The train will depart at 5:50 p. m.

The War Department at Washington, and the French Government, have supplied these war trophies. They will consist of guns captured from the Germans, of shells whose contents have performed their work of destruction, of helmets that adorned the heads of the enemy, of unique and terrible implements of war, and shattered treasures that tell of the ruthless destructiveness of the Hun.

There will be aeroplanes that have figured in raids over the enemy's lines, and their planes that were brought to earth by Allied gunners, and so disabled that they are no longer useful.

All manner of arms, both of the Allies and the Germans, will be shown. There will be the gas bombs, sharpnel shells, motors, and miniatures of the terrible U-boats and models of the submarines used by the American navy and the navies of the Allies.

These comprehensive relics of the greatest war the world has ever known will be loaded on two flat cars to each train. In addition there will be a sleeping car and a baggage car in each train. The exhibits will be arranged on the flat cars, and the people may walk along on a platform and see and even touch some of the relics.

Speakers of National reputation will accompany each train, and will deliver addresses from the train. There will also be in the party soldiers from the English, French and American Armies, who have actually seen service at the front, and who will make short talks at each stop. The speakers and soldiers will live in the sleeping car during the tour.

The train will start from St. Louis, April 6. Posters in the cities to be visited will announce day and hour train will arrive, and the time for the speaking program.

Note: The arrival of the train at Lexington is dependent upon its being able to carry out the schedule.

reach here until late Monday afternoon. A short service was conducted by Rev. Ailor at the grave.

He had been a great sufferer of heart disease for several months and though death was not unexpected he died very suddenly about four o'clock Wednesday morning. He came to Waverly with his parents when only two years of age and with the exception of a few years spent in Higginsville, had lived here all his life. For the past twenty years he had been engaged in the blacksmith business. In 1892, he was married to Miss Orphelia Oliver, who survives him. He also leaves one brother, Robert Martin, of Higginsville.

The funeral services conducted by Rev. Ailor, were held at the Methodist church Thursday afternoon. Burial was in the Waverly cemetery.

MUMFORD ISSUES
CALL TO FARMERS TO MARKET WHEAT

An order to the farmers in Missouri to market their wheat immediately has just been issued by F. B. Mumford, federal food administrator for Missouri. The order follows:

"The United States Government finds it necessary to call on all farmers now having wheat to market this wheat immediately. The demand for supplies for our soldiers fighting in France and for our associates in this war makes it imperative that every surplus bushel now in the hands of farmers be placed on the market immediately.

"All farmers now having wheat which is not needed for seed or for the family needs, no matter how small an amount, should place it on the market at once.

"Persons who for any reason are unable to comply with this order must report to the office of the Federal Food Administrator, Columbia, Missouri. When such reports are received they will be carefully investigated.

"Farmers should not hold back their wheat and by so doing compel the government to requisition the crop. Missouri farmers are patriotic and this suggestion as to the imperative needs of the government at this time will be sufficient to cause all patriotic farmers to put their wheat on the market at once."

Mrs. Firman White and little son, Edwin, of Kansas City, arrived Tuesday evening for a visit with Mrs. Ella White.
